PRESENTER PROFILES

John Durel
Organizational Consultant and Leadership Coach
Qm2/Durel Consulting Partners
Baltimore, MD

John W. Durel, Ph.D. combines practical experience from thirty years working in and with museums, with a keen understanding of how people and organizations function. In his current role as an organizational consultant, he advises museums and cultural nonprofits on leadership, organizational change, strategic planning, fundraising, and board and staff development. His clients have included art, history, science, and children's museums. John runs peer learning roundtables for executive directors, development directors, and senior museum professionals, providing ongoing support for individual leaders who are working to build great museums. He presents regularly at AAM, ACM and AASLH conferences and has published in Museum News, History News, and Hand-to-Hand.

Web Conference Moderators

Jonathan Finkelstein
Founder and Executive Producer, LearningTimes.org
President, The LearningTimes Network
New York, NY

Jonathan works closely with museums, educational institutions, libraries and other organizations to grow and maintain online learning communities and to foster human interaction, professional development and learning online. His recent book, Learning in Real Time (Wiley/Jossey-Bass), translates over ten years of experience facilitating real-time online learning into a practical resource guide for anyone facilitating or teaching online. Finkelstein also authored the chapter on live online outreach in the The Digital Museum: A Think Guide, published by AAM. He can be seen as the host of the "Real Time Minute" (www.realtimeminute.com), a podcast series about online collaboration, and as the moderator and producer of many live webcasts, online conferences and 3D virtual world events for museum and education professionals. Finkelstein, who is the son of two New York City public school teachers, is a Certified Synchronous Training Professional (CSTP) and received his AB degree with honors from Harvard University.
