MUSEUM ASSESSMENT PROGRAM OVERVIEW

What is MAP?

For almost 40 years the Museum Assessment Program (MAP) has helped over 5,000 small and mid-sized museums of all types strengthen and align operations, plan for the future, build capacity, and benchmark themselves against standards. This takes place through a confidential, consultative one-year process of self-assessment, institutional activities, and peer review—including a site visit from an expert peer reviewer. MAP is administered by the American Alliance of Museums (AAM/the Alliance) and supported through a cooperative agreement with the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS). This allows AAM to provide museums $4,000 - $6,000 worth of consultative resources and services for a modest fee based on budget size.

In addition the information contained in this document, you can learn more about MAP, including reading case studies and examples of impact from former participants at: <https://www.aam-us.org/programs/accreditation-excellence-programs/museum-assessment-program-map/>

Components of MAP

The MAP process consists of submitting an application; completing a self-study workbook and activities; undergoing a site visit; receiving a final report; and documenting immediate and longer-term action steps informed by the report.

Application

To be considered for participation in MAP, your museum must submit an application which collects information on eligibility, institutional capacity, assessment objectives, who will be involved from the institution, and readiness for MAP.

MAP Portal

MAP participants use an online platform to support and guide their progression, step-by-step, through the process. Your institution will move through a series of modules that include narrated presentations, downloadable resources, and required materials.

Self-Study Workbook and Activities

The Self-Study Workbook and Activities are designed to help your institution see itself holistically and prepare the Peer Reviewer for the site visit. This self-assessment aspect of MAP:

- stimulates a review of your institution's policies, procedures, and records
- enhances institutional dialogue and openness
- informs the peer review phase
- encourages new ways of operating
- serves as a baseline against which to measure your museum's progress

Peer Review/Site Visit

Each MAP assessment includes a site visit by a Peer Reviewer who is a museum professional volunteering his/her time and experience/expertise to help your institution. They review your museum's application and self-study materials; visit the museum for a 1 to 2-1/2 day site visit, and provide the museum with a report of findings and recommendations. Your stated MAP objectives help focus the Peer Reviewer's visit and report. Peer review provides:

- the opportunity for a collegial critique of your operations from an external, fresh perspective
- validation and input from an experienced museum professional
- consultative advice to help your museum improve

Implementation Planning

Museums receive and discuss the final report from their Peer Reviewer then use it to create plans and take action to implement the recommendations. MAP will give you the tools and motivation to continue with next steps.

Evaluation

As part of their participation in MAP, institutions must provide feedback about the materials and process, as well as report on individual results and benefits, periodically throughout the process and at its conclusion.

Benefits of MAP

Museums emerge from MAP with:

- greater alignment of activities, mission, and resources
- analysis of strengths, weaknesses, and opportunities
- prioritized roadmap for improving operations and meeting standards
- practices benchmarked to standards
- enhanced credibility with potential funders and donors
- improved communications between staff, board, and other constituents
- expert advice, recommendations, and resources
- increased capacity for strategic planning

After participating in MAP, museums:

- say the changes made as a result of MAP positively impacted visitor experience and/or community response to their museum
- create or update at least one museum policy
- are better prepared to go through Accreditation
- credit MAP for their success in fundraising

For case studies and data visit <https://www.aam-us.org/programs/accreditation-excellence-programs/impact/>.

Assessment Types

There are five different MAP assessment types to choose from: Organizational, Collections Stewardship, Community/Audience Engagement, Board Leadership, and Education & Interpretation. Listed below for each assessment you will find: a description of scope and purpose; what is required to participate (in addition to the general eligibility requirements for MAP); recommendations on what you should already have in place in order to participate successfully; and examples of how it can help your museum.

Aspects common to all assessments:

- Grounded in the Core Standards
- Include Diversity, Equity, Access, and Inclusion (DEAI) issues as related to the particular assessment's focus
- Help museums look at both functional and strategic aspects of their operations

If you need more guidance on which assessment is best for your institution, visit the following webpage or contact the MAP staff: <https://www.aam-us.org/programs/accreditation-excellence-programs/map-assessment-types/>.

Organizational Assessment

Purpose and Scope:

This basic strategic and holistic assessment helps a museum look at its operations primarily from the perspective of how well activities, resources, and mission align with each other, and with professional ethics, practices, and standards. To help a museum have a solid foundation to build on for long-term health and impact, this assessment places significant emphasis on thinking, acting, and planning strategically; organizational alignment, capacity; leadership and organizational structure; risk management; and organizational culture. This assessment assists museums define key areas of operations or functions that need to be strengthened.

- Mission
- Strategic planning
- Organizational life cycle
- Financial resource allocation, development
- Legal compliance, public disclosure, accountability
- Ethics, transparency and openness
- Governance (structure, composition, function, role)
- Staff (roles, capacity)
- Security, Safety, and Emergency Planning
- Operational ecosystem (community make-up and needs)
- Facilities
- DEAI issues: board/staff diversity, compensation equity

Eligibility and Readiness:

See the main Eligibility section below.

Benefits:

This assessment may increase staff and/or governing authority's knowledge about aspects of the museum, including but not limited to:

- the respective roles and responsibilities of governing authority and staff
- museum standards and best practices
- resources available to help the museum

It can improve alignment of operations to mission, resources to mission, and organizational structure to mission. This assessment will also bring up topics like governing authority and staff diversity as well as compensation equity.

And it may improve the institution's ability to develop or refine its mission statement and develop an institutional plan and other core policies. It can also help a museum assess facilities management needs or risks and offer tools and ideas to improve financial sustainability, collections care, and community engagement. Note that the Organizational Assessment does not offer a deep dive in to these latter two areas; see the other assessments described below for a more focused review.

And finally, it can be a step in preparation for core document verification, accreditation or reaccreditation.

Collections Stewardship Assessment

Purpose and Scope:

This assessment focuses on practical, ethical, and strategic collections issues and activities related to the care and management of a museum's collections per professional practices and standards. It also looks at the collections within the context of the museum's total operations, plans, and resource allocation. The results will help the museum—governing authority and staff—increase its knowledge, recognize and mitigate risk, take action, prioritize long-term collections stewardship issues, gain physical and intellectual control of the collections, and write policies and plans. This assessment will also include topics such as stewardship of and access to sacred and culturally sensitive objects; and decolonization of taxonomies.

- Acquisitions & accessioning
- Deaccessioning & disposal
- Loans
- Ethical, cultural, and legal issues
- Environmental monitoring and control
- Storage, movement
- Conservation and preservation
- Documentation and inventory
- Emergency planning
- Collections planning
- Alignment of collections, resources, and mission
- Staffing, training, and resource allocation

Eligibility and Readiness:

In addition to the main eligibility requirement for MAP, your institution MUST have:

- A formal and approved mission statement which has been recently reviewed.

MAP staff also strongly recommends that the museum has:

- A collections management policy already, at least in draft, before applying for this assessment. This recommendation is based on feedback from Peer Reviewers, who find that they can be of greatest help to the museum if there is a policy or draft policy on which they can comment.

Benefits:

This assessment can help increase staff and/or governing authority's knowledge about collections standards and best practices. It can assist in improving alignment of collections with mission and your museum's institutional plan.

It may improve the museum's ability to write a collections plan and develop/review/revise collections management policies and procedures. It may improve your museum's ability to raise funds to support the collections, prioritize long-term collections management issues, manage risk, and overall improve collections stewardship.

This assessment can also assist in reviewing the institutional needs in the areas of collections management staffing and facilities management.

And finally, it can be a step in preparation for core document verification, accreditation or reaccreditation.

Community and Audience Engagement Assessment

Purpose and Scope:

This assessment focuses on the museum's awareness and understanding of, and relationship with, its various communities and audiences; and their perception of, and experience with, the museum. It looks at what roles the museum plays in its community and vice versa. And it helps the museum look at its culture and actions when it comes to diversity, equity, accessibility, and inclusion—all of which impact its long-term financial sustainability. A Community and Audience Engagement assessment helps museums gather better input from their constituents, develop a more nuanced view about the community's and audiences' demographics and needs, respond to the changing nature of its audiences, and incorporate these findings into planning and operational decisions.

- What your community knows and thinks about the museum
- What you know about your community and how
- Who comes to/engages with your museum and why/why not, and how you know
- How/what data you gather
- Barriers to reaching your target audiences
- DEAI issues: How do you reflect your community; what are the opportunities for community engagement/voice with the museum (board service, a voice in programming, etc.); do messaging, branding,

- and other outward facing activities inclusive, equitable, and accessible?
- Plans and policies

- Strategic partnerships/relationships
- The visitor experience / visitor services
- Allocation of organizational resources

Eligibility and Readiness:

In addition to the main eligibility requirement for MAP, your institution MUST have:

- A formal and approved mission statement which has been recently reviewed.

MAP staff also strongly recommends that the museum have:

- Someone on its internal Assessment Team with experience with self-assessment and/or working on projects that involve outside stakeholders. This will be of benefit when it comes to managing the assessment logistics, which need to involve members of your museum's community and audiences.
- An established process for institutional/strategic planning

In addition, prior completion of an Organizational Assessment is encouraged but not required.

Benefits:

This assessment can increase the staff and leadership's understanding of the needs of the museum's community(ies) and stakeholders, as well as how the museum is perceived by its audiences and community. It can improve the alignment of mission with audience and community, and incorporate community needs into long-range plans.

It may help your museum identify and develop:

- potential audiences
- create collaborations to address community needs
- design audience evaluation plans
- improve visitor services
- align audience needs with exhibitions and programming
- write/review/revise policies and procedures
- develop a long-range interpretive plan

And finally, it can be a step in preparation for Core Documents Verification, Accreditation or Reaccreditation.

Board Leadership Assessment

Purpose and Scope:

This advanced assessment is for private non-profit museums with boards that are primarily strategically focused rather than operationally focused (i.e., members do not function as staff) that are looking for guidance on how to strengthen their institution and ensure its long-term success through more effective leadership-oriented governance. The assessment looks at the board from three perspectives—people, work, culture—and helps them identify opportunities to move the museum beyond surviving to thriving. It also helps strengthen the board's understanding of museum ethics and standards.

- People: Board Composition and Structure
  - Who's on the board and who's not; diversity, skills, connection to/reflection of community
  - Recruitment and orientation
  - Succession planning (board and director)
- Work: Board Responsibilities
  - Advocacy (monitoring and engaging in public policy)
- Advancing institutional diversity and inclusion
- Raising money and financial oversight
- Strategic planning
- Performance and evaluation
- Culture: Leadership and Board Dynamics
  - Accountability and ethics
  - Board-Director relationship
  - Museum Core Standards and ethics

Eligibility and Readiness:

The Board Leadership Assessment is primarily designed for standalone museums that are 501(c)(3)s—organizations with boards that operate autonomously and have a fiduciary responsibility to the organization. However, if the museum is part of a larger parent organization whose board functions as the museum's board; or if the museum is a public-private partnership, contact the MAP staff to discuss, as the program will consider these on case-by-case basis.

Advisory boards are not eligible to participate in the Board Leadership Assessment.

In addition to the main eligibility requirement for MAP, your institution MUST have:

- A formal and approved mission statement which has been recently reviewed.
- Bylaws
- A paid director (regardless of title, this is someone that functions as the chief executive officer—the highest ranking member of staff that reports to the governing authority)
- Financial sustainability and not be currently in crisis mode

Also, your museum's board MUST be:

- Active and aware of the involved role they will be playing in this assessment, both on the Assessment Team and during the site visit
- Willing to look internally at their roles and responsibilities and commit to progressing through this assessment with transparency and honesty
- Willing to be self-reflective and make changes

MAP staff also strongly recommends that your institution:

- have done a MAP Organizational Assessment, or something similar that provided the museum with external review of its operations
- speak with the MAP staff about interest in this assessment before applying

Benefits

This assessment will help the board fully embrace and advance its strategic roles and responsibilities so it can effectively lead the institution and ensure its long-term relevance and sustainability. This includes helping the board set a culture and practice of inclusion for itself and the museum's actions and activities. It can improve communication and collaboration between the board and director, other board members, and key stakeholders; help the museum align its board composition to the needs of the organization and the community; and address competing or under-developed advocacy, governance, and fundraising roles.

Education & Interpretation Assessment

Purpose and Scope:

This assessment helps a museum evaluate how well it is carrying out its educational role and mission, and meeting core standards for education and interpretation. In addition to looking at the museum's current content delivery vehicles such as its exhibitions, tours, and programs, the Education & Interpretation Assessment considers these in context with the museum's community, audiences, and other aspects of operations so the museum can be a responsive, relevant, and trusted source of learning and educational partner in its larger education ecosystem. The assessment also looks at the museum's educational content creation and delivery from the perspective of diversity, equity, accessibility, and inclusion.

- How educational content is planned, informed, created, delivered, and evaluated
  - Plans and policies
  - Who is involved internally and externally
  - Delivery formats (exhibits, programs, tours, off site school visits, etc.)
  - Goals, success measures, impact
- Alignment between educational programs, collections, exhibitions, and mission
- Community and audiences: composition and needs; what do you know about them and how; alignment with them and your educational deliverables
- Partnerships and work with local educational ecosystem / how the museum is seen and used as an educational resource
- DEAI issues: physical and intellectual accessibility; inclusion of diverse voices—who has a voice in your museum's interpretation/content and what voices are you choosing to amplify or share? What story are you telling?
- Organizational resources devoted to carrying out educational role (money, people, facilities, collection)

Eligibility and Readiness

In addition to the main eligibility requirement for MAP, your institution MUST have:

- A formal and approved mission statement which has been recently reviewed
- Staff position(s) (paid or unpaid) dedicated to education, interpretation and exhibits; these roles can be separate or combined into one or more positions

Benefits:

Museums that complete this assessment will see improved engagement and collaboration between education-related staff and collections staff (and/or volunteers), and alignment of educational activities and the museum's mission. It builds the museum's capacity and toolkit to enhance visitor experience and improve audience engagement, including as related to diversity, accessibility, and inclusion. Museums will also gain a deeper understanding of the larger educational ecosystem in their community; and it can help align educational concepts such as learning styles and developmental stages, with deliverables.

This assessment can also help your museum:

- Align programs and events to target audiences
- Improve interaction and engagement
- Design educational materials (such as gallery activities, lesson plans, exhibit guides or teacher resources)
- Develop an Interpretation Plan
- Support training for front line staff and volunteers
- Design program evaluation strategies
- Analyze the current inclusion of diverse voices

And finally, it can be a step in preparation for Core Documents Verification, Accreditation, or Reaccreditation.

- Integrate them into your museum's plans
- Follow-up with the Peer Reviewer with any questions and for recommendation clarification
- Submit final MAP process summary form and evaluation tool

Commitment

For your museum to get the most benefit from MAP, the process needs to be an institutional priority. Committing to MAP includes:

- meeting deadlines
- involving the staff and governing authority for the duration of the process
- engaging the museum's internal and external communities
- evaluating the process
- being transparent, communicative, and candid with each other, the MAP staff, and the Peer Reviewer

Key paid and unpaid staff, members of your governing authority, and other important constituencies should be involved the MAP process. There are a few special roles.

The Assessment Team

The Assessment Team is a critical part of the MAP process. This internal team leads the MAP process at the museum and is accountable for completion and compliance. It is responsible for doing for the bulk of the work to complete materials and the modules in the MAP Portal. It is responsible for conducting the assessment and integrating it into the museum's planning and implementation process. Members of the team can change if needed during the MAP process. Being on the Team involves a significant time commitment (see chart on next page).

Who should be on this team? People with the:

- knowledge about how things really work or don't work at your organization, about what resources are available, about how to get things done
- authority to hold others accountable for tasks
- authority for making decisions about policies or procedures
- responsibility for implementing decisions arising from the assessment and subsequent planning

The number of people on your Assessment Team is up to you. But remember to keep it manageable.

Consider who on the Assessment Team should be the Primary Contact—this person functions as the Assessment Team leader and main connection point with the MAP staff. It may be a member of your governing authority, the director, or another staff member with appropriate skills to lead a team and manage a project. Generally we do not recommend having the development director, grant writer, a consultant, or an intern serve as the Primary Contact. Notify MAP staff if any Assessment Team members change during the process.

A copy of your final report will be shared with all people listed below as your institution's assessment team (or their replacements).

For a full summary of the various roles at your institution, and their related responsibilities and time commitment, see the chart on the next page.

Evaluation and Reporting

Completing evaluations about specific parts of the process, materials, and the MAP experience overall is part of your museum's commitment to MAP. Your museum will be asked to return evaluations at various stages of the MAP process. Not only will your comments help AAM improve MAP for future users, but your feedback is required as a part of MAP's obligation to IMLS. We also welcome your comments and observations at any point during the assessment, outside of the formal evaluation/survey instruments.

Withdrawal Policy

Sometimes museums need to withdraw themselves from the Museum Assessment Program due to unforeseen circumstances that impact the availability and capacity of the of staff and/or governing authority to see the process through to completion.

Sometimes the AAM staff will withdraw a museum because it is not moving forward in the program or complying with program requirements. Your institution's participation in MAP—including but not limited to the AAM staff support, materials, and Peer Reviewer—are made possible by federal funds issued to the American Alliance of Museums from the Institute of Museum and Library Services—a federal agency. As such, AAM must ensure that this money is used appropriately.

MAP fees are nonrefundable but withdrawing from the program will not impact your standing with AAM or other excellence programs and will not impact your ability to apply for MAP or other AAM programs in the future.

ELIGIBILITY

Words in bold and italicized appear in the glossary.

Eligible institutions include aquariums, art museums, children/youth museums, general museums, historic houses/sites, history museums, natural history/anthropology museums, nature centers, planetariums, public gardens, science/technology museums, specialized museums and zoos.

The following eligibility criteria apply to all applicants, regardless of which assessment is selected. The applicant museum must:

- be organized on a permanent basis for essentially educational or aesthetic purposes;
- care for, and own or use, tangible objects, whether animate or inanimate, and make them available to the general public through exhibition and/or research on a regular basis at facilities it owns or operates
- be a unit of state local, or tribal government; or a private nonprofit organization with tax-exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code.
- have at least one professional staff member or the full-time equivalent, whether paid or unpaid, whose responsibilities relate solely to the museum's operations
- be open and providing museum services to the general public on a regular basis (a museum that exhibits objects to the general public for at least 90 days a year fulfills this requirement). If a museum is not scheduled to be open to the public 90 days a year, it is still eligible to participate in MAP if it can demonstrate that it was open at least 90 days in the preceding year through a combination of scheduled days open and days open by appointment; travelling exhibits, digital exhibits and access to online collections may also be considered. To account for COVID-19 related closures and opening limitations, 2019 and 2020 data will be considered to determine the 90 days open eligibility requirement. The application questions address both pre and post-COVID-19 schedules.
- be located in one of the fifty states of the U.S., the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, or the Republic of Palau; and
- not be operated by the U.S. federal government. (If your museum is a federal institution, contact the MAP staff to discuss how it can still participate in MAP on a fee-for-service basis.)

In addition to these main criteria, also see assessment-specific eligibility requirements stated earlier.

Museums with Parent Organizations

Museums that operate within a non-federal parent organization are eligible to apply and participate in MAP. A museum operated within a multi-purpose public or private nonprofit organization such as a municipality, university, historical society, foundation, or cultural center may apply on its own behalf if it:

- is able to independently fulfill all the requirements for eligibility listed above
- is an identifiably discrete unit within the parent organization
- has the authority to function and operate autonomously within the parent organization

When any of the eligibility criteria cannot be met, a museum may apply through its eligible parent organization, and the parent organization may apply(s) for one or more of its museums.

Returning to MAP or Repeating a MAP Assessment

Museums that previously completed an IMLS-funded MAP assessment are eligible to participate again in the same type of assessment if seven years have passed since the original assessment. There is no waiting period to do a different assessment. All applicants that have previously completed a MAP must explain in the application their accomplishments/progress since the last assessment, especially as related to the recommendations received and why they are seeking another one. If you are unsure if your institution has gone through MAP before, please check the AAM website or contact map@aam-us.org directly.

- Peer Reviewer's honorarium
- A dedicated MAP Program Officer for support, guidance, and feedback

**Please note: Your museum's MAP participation is IMLS funded but is not a grant given to your institution. AAM receives grant funding from IMLS to deliver this comprehensive program and service to your museum. AAM does not disperse any money to your museum.*

Peer Reviewer Expenses (Site Visit)

Peer Reviewers are reimbursed by AAM for their site visit expenses. Peer Reviewers generally make and pay upfront for their own travel arrangements. We encourage museums to work closely with Peer Reviewers to provide suggestions on where to stay, etc. If the museum directly pays for any allowable expense on behalf of the Peer Reviewer (e.g., hotel), the museum can seek reimbursement from AAM. Museums will be provided more details on site visit expenses once the MAP process begins.

Number of Peer Reviewers

Each museum receives one Peer Reviewer to conduct its site visit and write an assessment report.

If your museum would like two Peer Reviewers for its site visit, there is an additional fee of $1,650 to cover travel expenses, honorarium, and additional logistics. The two Peer Reviewers will conduct the site visit as a team and produce a single report for you.

Do I need an additional Peer Reviewer?

Large, complex museums, museums with multiple sites, and/or museums with multiple disciplines may want to consider having a two-person Peer Review team. Benefits of having more than one Peer Reviewer include:

- Multiple perspectives on complex situations
- Ability to meet with more staff and governing authority members face-to-face because Peer Reviewers can split up the duties
- Peer Reviewers with different areas of expertise can concentrate their focus on those areas, matching their expertise to the needs of the participating museum
- Museums preparing for accreditation or reaccreditation may benefit from multiple perspectives

If MAP staff determine it is unrealistic for one person to handle the visit solo due to the museum's size or complexity, they may require you have an additional Peer Reviewer.

Talk to the MAP staff before you submit your application if you want guidance on this matter.

APPLICATION GUIDELINES

Application Format

The application is submitted through an online system where you will answer questions and upload documents. Applications submitted by email or sent in hard copy will not be considered.

For the online application link and full technical instructions visit: <https://www.aam-us.org/programs/accreditation-excellence-programs/apply-to-the-museum-assessment-program/>

Required Application Materials

DUNS Number

Organizations must provide a Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number. Organizations can receive a DUNS number at no cost by calling the toll-free request line at 1-800-526-9018 or by visiting www.dnb.com.

TIN or EIN

A TIN (Taxpayer Identification Number) or EIN (Employer Identification Number) is a nine-digit number that the internal Revenue Service (IRS) assigns to business entities. The IRS uses this number to identify taxpayers who are required to file various business tax returns. This is a free service offered by the IRS and you can get your EIN immediately. To apply go to <https://www.irs.gov/businesses/small-businesses-self-employed/apply-for-an-employer-identification-number-ein-online>.

Proof of Non-Profit Status

If your organization is incorporated as a nonprofit, you must submit a copy of your Federal IRS letter indicating your organization's eligibility for nonprofit status under the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended. A letter of state sales tax exemption is not accepted as proof of nonprofit status.

Organizational Chart

The chart should include, as applicable, the museum's parent organization, governing authority, partner organizations, advisory boards, supporting organizations, staff, and volunteers; and show the relationships between them.

Letter from Parent Organization

If your organization operates as part of a unit of state or local government or other tax-exempt multipurpose organization such as a university or foundation, you must submit official documentation from the parent identifying the museum as such and supporting its participation in MAP. This certification must be on the parent organization's letterhead, refer to the relationship between the parent organization and the applicant, and be signed by an official of the parent organization. This can be as simple as:

The XYZ MUSEUM is owned and operated by the ABC PARENT ORGANIZATION. We support the XYZ MUSEUM's participation in the Museum Assessment Program.

Signature Page

Two signatures are required on the application: the director and the head of the governing authority. If there is no museum director or the head of the governing authority fills this role, the head of the governing authority and a second person from the governing authority must also sign.

Museum Hours and Staffing - Examples

To show your museum's eligibility for MAP, in the application you must fill in charts with information about its hours of operation and staffing, as shown in the examples below:

For the online application link and full technical instructions visit <https://www.aam-us.org/programs/accreditation-excellence-programs/apply-to-the-museum-assessment-program/>.

There is a fixed number of participants that the program can accept each year. Once the limit is reached, applications will continue to be accepted but museums might be put on a waiting list and then applications could be moved into the pool to be considered if a spot becomes available .

For questions about the application contact the Museum Assessment Program staff at (202) 289-9118 or map@aam-us.org.

Next Steps

Application Review

MAP staff may need to contact you with questions about your application. Delayed responses to staff inquiries may jeopardize your eligibility or consideration for MAP.

Acceptance Notification

MAP staff will process the museum's application and notify the Primary Contact about the acceptance status approximately 30-45 days after the application deadline. If accepted, MAP staff will e-mail an acceptance letter, which you will be required to sign and return in approximately two weeks.

Participation fees will be invoiced shortly after acceptance. Payment is required within 30 days of the date of the invoice.

GLOSSARY

Accessibility: Giving equitable access to everyone along the continuum of human ability and experience. Accessibility encompasses the broader meanings of compliance and refers to how organizations make space for the characteristics that each person brings.*

Professional Practices: A professional practice [aka best practice] is generally accepted in the field as a reliable method or technique for achieving a desired result.

Diversity: All the ways that people are different and the same at the individual and group levels. Even when people appear the same, they are different. Organizational diversity requires examining and questioning the makeup of a group to ensure that multiple perspectives are represented. *

Equity: The fair and just treatment of all members of a community. Equity requires commitment to strategic priorities, resources, respect, and civility, as well as ongoing action and assessment of progress toward achieving specific goals.*

Dual governance: A governance structure in which two separate legal entities share governance of the museum. This involves dividing or sharing basic governance responsibilities such as determining mission and purpose; hiring, supporting, and evaluating the director; strategic planning; obtaining and managing resources; and monitoring the organization's programs and services. For example: a museum jointly governed by a city government, which owns the collections and the building and hires the staff, and a private nonprofit, which determines museum policy and operates the museum. Does not automatically include museums that have separately incorporated friends organizations, unless the friends organization has significant responsibility for governance of the museum.

Inclusion: The intentional, ongoing effort to ensure that diverse individuals fully participate in all aspects of organizational work, including decision-making processes. It also refers to the ways that diverse participants are valued as respected members of an organization and/ or community. While a truly "inclusive" group is necessarily diverse, a "diverse" group may or may not be "inclusive."*

General museum: A museum that addresses two or more disciplines to a significant extent; for example, a museum that interprets both art and history, or both history and science.

Governing Authority: The body with legal and fiduciary responsibility for the museum and for approving museum policy (e.g., Board of Commissioners, Board of Directors, Board of Managers, Board of Regents, Board of Trustees, City Council, Commission).

Governing Authority: The executive body to which the director reports/is responsible. It is charged with the fiduciary responsibility for the museum and for approving museum policy.

Names of Governing Authority include: Advisory Council, Board of Commissioners, Board of Directors, Board of Managers, Board of Regents, Board of Trustees, City Council, Commission.

Head of Governing Authority: The elected or appointed head of the executive body (governing authority) to which the director reports. For institutions that are part of a larger non-museum parent organization, the head of governing authority is considered to be the individual within the institution's larger parent organization to whom the director reports/is responsible (e.g., dean or provost of a university, director of parks and recreation for a city government, military post commander, etc.)

Museum system: Two or more museums or museum facilities that share a common parent organization. The component parts of a museum system may be museums operating independently or quasi-independently with distinct budgets and governing authorities, or may simply be separate, distinguishable sites all managed by the same organization.

Operating income and expenses: Income generated by or expenditures supporting the museum's general operations in a given fiscal year, including exhibitions, education, conservation, collections management, collections acquisitions, research, training, development, and administration. Includes any portion of income from the endowment that is applied to operating expenses in a given year. Does not include capital expenditures.

Parent organization: A larger organization within which a museum operates. Examples of parent organizations are: colleges or universities; tribal, municipal, state, or federal government; state historical societies supervising multiple sites; corporate foundation, etc.

Specialized museum: A museum that does not fall into or combine any of the other discipline areas listed in question 14 of the application—for example, a quilt museum, clock museum, and stamp museum.

Standard: Generally accepted level of attainment for use as a basis of comparison in measuring or judging performance.

Tangible objects: Any three-dimensional objects that are used in any way at the museum. Collections managed by virtual museums are not considered to be tangible objects.
